

Wonderful World of Animals

Created by
Mrs. Harding's
First Grade

May 2011

Dolphin

By Bella

My animal is the dolphin. It eats fish and squids.

The dolphin lives in the ocean.

The baby is called a calf. A special feature is that it has rings on their teeth. The dolphin is a carnivore.

Parrot

By Emily

My animal is the parrot. It eats fish and vegetables. The parrot lives in the rain forest. The baby is called a pinfeather. The special feature is he is colorful. The parrot is an omnivore.

Tiger

By Ethan

My animal is a tiger. It eats meat. The tiger lives in the wilds of Africa and the jungle. The baby is called a cub. A special feature is that the tiger can run fast. The tiger is a carnivore.

Elephant

By Gabbie

My animal is an elephant. It eats hay, cabbages, and apples. The elephant lives in Asia and Africa. The baby is called a calf. A special feature is baby elephants weigh 750 pounds. The elephant is an herbivore.

Sea Otter

By Hailey

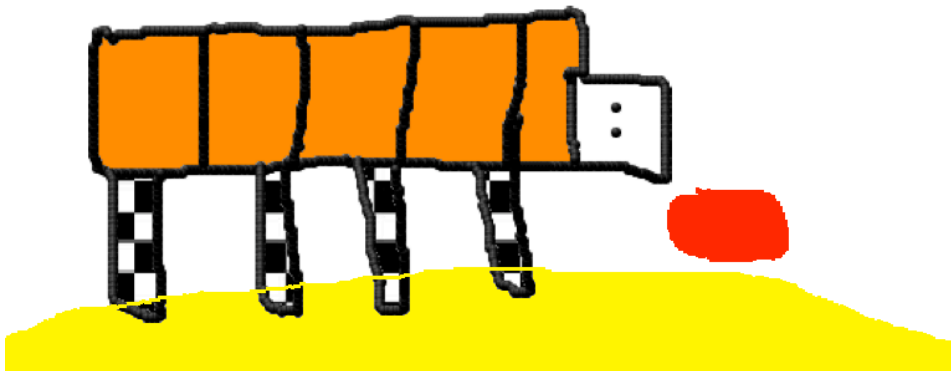

My animal is the cute sea otter. It eats crabs, snails and sea urchins. The sea otter lives in the ocean. The baby sea otter is called a pup. A special feature is it is good at swimming. The sea otter is a carnivore.

Tiger

By Hudson

My animal is the tiger. It eats meat. The tiger lives in the jungle and the wild and Africa. The baby is called a cub. A special feature is it runs fast. The tiger is a carnivore.

Squirrel

By Jackson

My animal is the squirrel. It eats acorns. The squirrel lives in tree holes. The baby is called a baby. A special feature is that it is a good climber. The squirrel is an herbivore.

Skunk

By Lilly

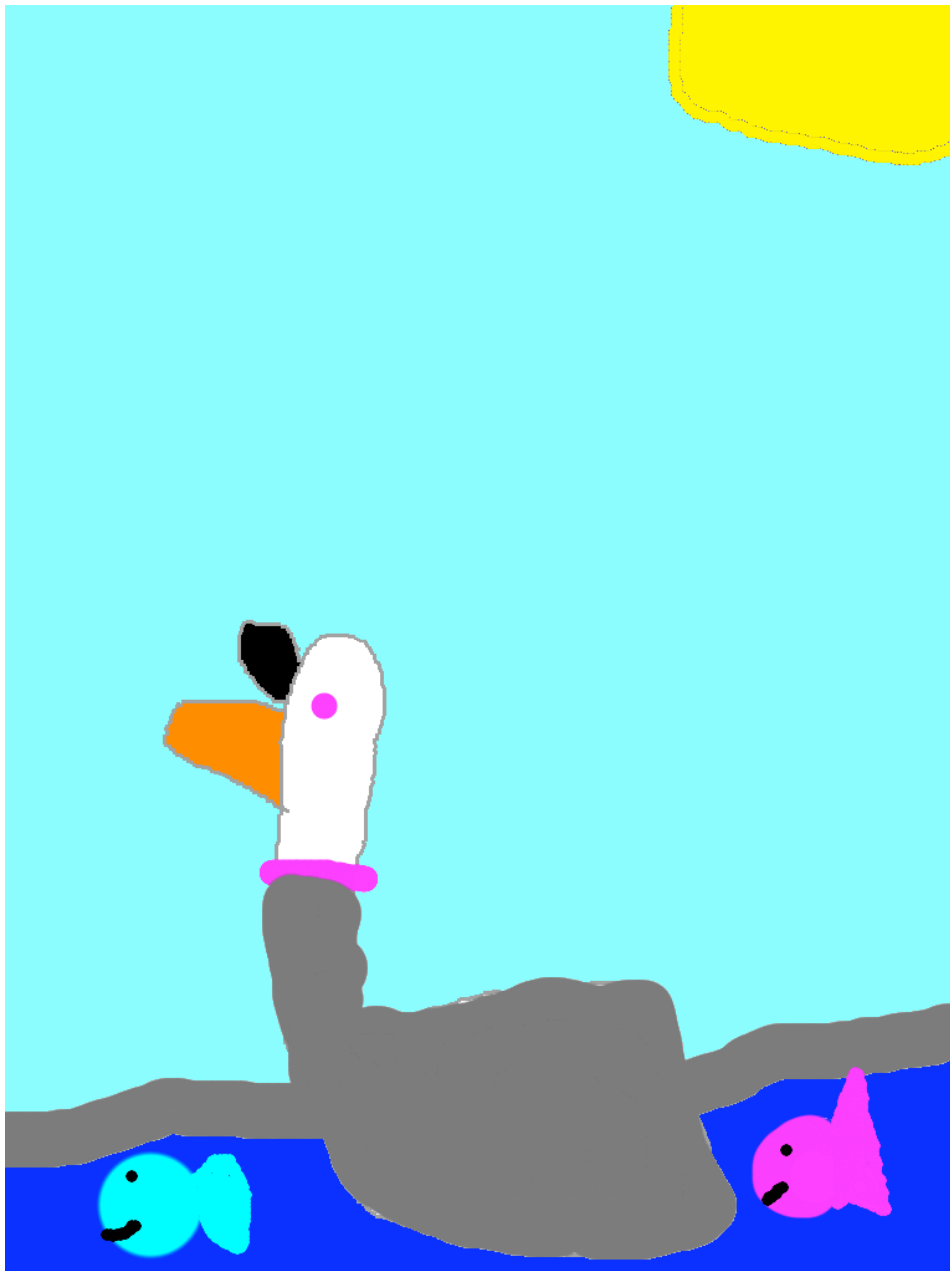

My animal is the skunk. It eats insects and small animals. It lives in the forest. The baby is called a kit. A special feature is that it runs fast. The skunk is a carnivore.

Swan

By Lydia

My animal is a swan. The swan eats fish. It lives in the wild. The swan's baby is called a cygnet. It can scare away cats. They keep their babies on their backs so big fish won't eat them. They are cute. The swan is an herbivore.

Lion

By Mateus

My animal is a lion. It eats meat and fruits. The lion lives in the wild. The baby is called a cub. The lion runs fast. The lion is a carnivore.

Rhinoceros

By Matin

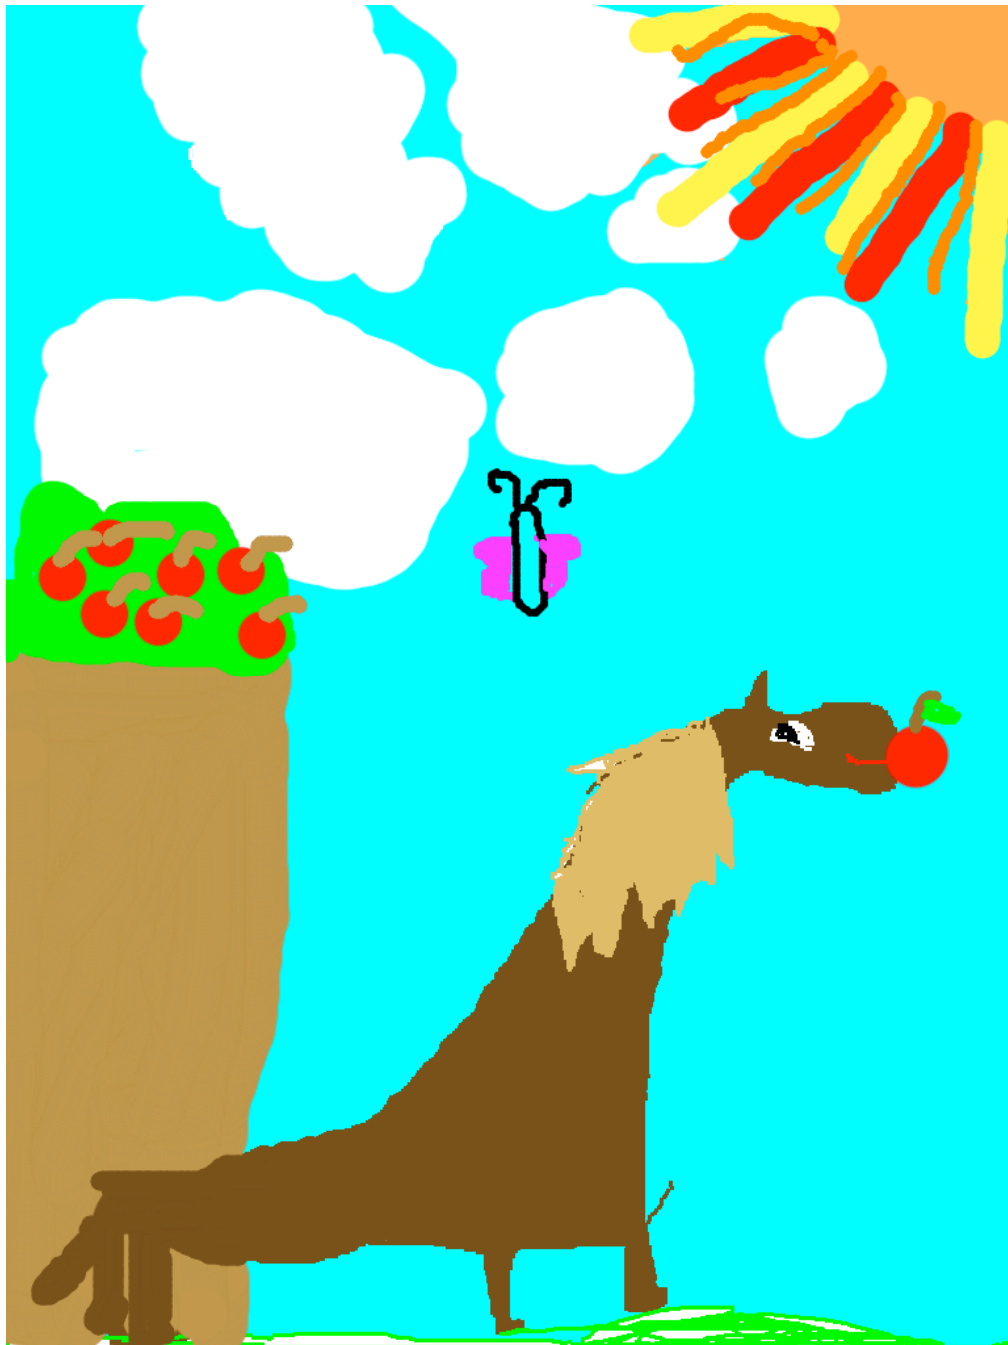

My animal is a rhinoceros. It eats grass, leafy twigs, and shrubs. It lives in the jungles of Africa and Asia. The baby is called a calf. A special feature is the horns of a rhinoceros. They can have one or two horns on their noses. The rhinoceros is an herbivore.

Horse

By Miranda

My animal is the horse. It eats apples. The horse lives in the wild. The baby is called a foal. A special feature is it is tan. The horse is an herbivore.

Shark

By Nate

My animal is the shark. It eats fish. Sharks live in the ocean. The shark's special feature is that it grows a hundred teeth a day. The shark is a carnivore.

Tiger

By Nathan

My animal is the tiger. It eats meat. The tiger lives in the jungle. A baby is called a cub. A special feature is that the tiger can roar very loud. A tiger is a carnivore.

Common Loon

By Neyla

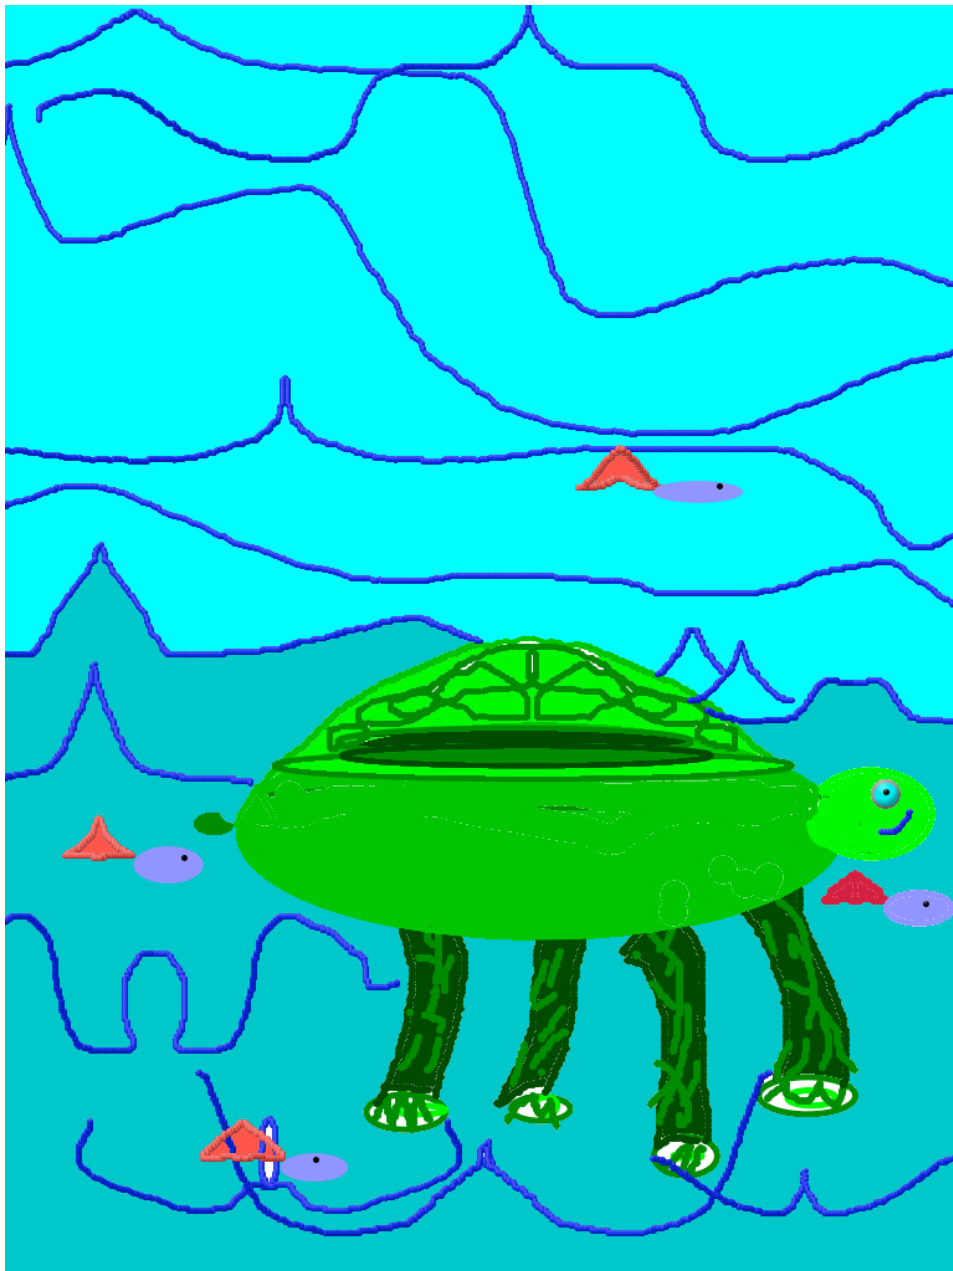

My animal is the common loon. It eats slugs and fish. It lives in the lake. The baby is called a loon chick. When the loon talks to it, it sounds like a wolf. The loon is an omnivore.

Turtle

By Simon

My animal is the turtle. It eats fish. It lives in rivers, ponds, oceans, and on land. The baby is called a hatchling. A special feature is the shell. The turtle is an omnivore.

Panda

By Sydney

My animal is the Panda. It eats bamboo and grass. The panda lives in China. The baby is called a cub. A special feature is climbing. The panda is an herbivore.

Penguin

By Tanner

My animal is the penguin. It eats fish. The penguin lives in Antarctica. The baby is called a chick. A special feature is they are good swimmers. The penguin is a carnivore.

Eastern Chipmunk

By Zeke

My animal is the eastern chipmunk. It eats nuts and berries, seeds and grains. The eastern chipmunk lives in deserts and forests. The baby is called a pup. A special feature is that it can dig without breaking its claws. It is an herbivore.

